Mr. Dobother hand, I never drank anything stronger than lamented that intelligent farmers of this country do bin at once replied, with generous acknowledgment coffee, and the temperance men took it for granted, I not see this thing in its right hight.

Things went off pretty smoothly in the canvass, and I and my opponent were to make our last speeches in one of the back townships, on the Saturday pre ceding the election. It was a hard place for a temperance man, and I was most thoroughly cross-examined during my speech, as to my antecedents in connection with temperance societies, and, especially, whether I had ever belonged to the Sons of Temperance; this order being the peculiar abomination in the neighborhood. My answers seemed to satisfy the sovereigns, and I was congratulating myself that the last ordeal was passed.

I was slightly mistaken. Some malicious political adversary had whispered it about in the crowd, that I could not bear the taste or smell of whiskey. This was a serious and damaging charge, and my friends, without consulting me, determined that a convincing proof of its falsehood should be given, before I left the ground. Tom W ---, about as hard a case as the neighborhood afforded, was selected as a committee of one, to carry out their resolution. Just as I had mount d my horse to leave, Tom approached me with a brimming tumbler of new whiskey in his hand, and asked me to " jine the boys adorned the world with their brilliant minds, or start-lbs. at 12 cents per lb. for hog round. We are unable to give a fair quotation for hams, sides, and shoulders and our rates must therefore be considered as merely nominal. See table. For Western cured the market also rules exocedingly dull, and there is a good stock remaining in first ceedingly dull, and there is a good stock remaining in first hands. Only small transactions have been effected at 9½ a 10 cents for sides, and 7½ a 9 cents per lb. for shoulders, as in quality.——LARD—The demand for retailing purposes appears to have become somewhat checked, and in consequence we reduce figures a shade. We quote at 15 cents in barrels, and 15@15½ cents in kegs. No Western on market, and quotations nominal See table.—Posk—In the price of Northern Mess we have no change to make. There is only a light demand at present, with small sales at quotations See table. For fresh we notice rather a better demand; receipts since our last have been meagre, and the sales have been from carts at 81 to 10 cents per lb., as in quality. SALT-No receipts of either Liverpool sack or Alum to notice during the past week. The market is fairly supplied. and rules dull. See table for store rates of the former. The cargo of 1,500 bushels Alum, noted in our last as on market, has been sold on private terms.

SHINGLES-Nothing doing. Nominal at quotations. See PEA NUTS-The receipts for the past week have been mostly confined to parcels already contracted for, and there is considerable dullness in the market. The price has declined with sales at $1 to $1 10 per bushel, as in quality. TIMBER-Has been brought in sparingly, and rules dull Sales of a few rafts during the week at prices ranging within classified figures. See table FREIGHTS- Country produce continues to arrive slowly, and the quantity offering is barely sufficient for the vesse s now in port. Coastwise rates remain the same, and we ref r to our table for last prices paid.
